Responsibility Matters

Were you responsible today?
What did you do? Did you work hard at school? Maybe you were on time for dance class. Maybe you helped set the table before dinner.

Responsible people keep their promises. They do what they say they will do. People who are responsible are honest. Other people can trust them to get a job done.

Responsibility is a superpower.
Why? When you are responsible, you treat others fairly. People can depend on you. They know you will not let them down. This gives you confidence. You work hard and always do your best.

Sometimes people are not responsible. Maybe they are tired. Maybe they want to play and have fun. Or they might be too busy. They forget what they need to do.

When this happens, people are not being dependable. They might make excuses or blame other people.

Being Responsible at Home

You can be responsible at home.
Clean your room without being asked.
Make your bed. Put away your toys.
Then your room will look great!

Being responsible takes discipline.
It means going to bed on time. It also means doing your chores.

Pete does chores before he plays.
He does not complain. He loads the dishwasher and sweeps the floor. Being responsible makes him feel good. Lakin folds the laundry and feeds her pet rabbit. She is proud of doing her best!
