Our Five Senses

We have five senses—seeing, hearing, smelling, tasting, and touching.

Our senses help us enjoy
the world around us.

Seeing

We use our eyes to see!

The black dot in the middle of your eye is called a pupil.

The pupil lets in light so you can see.

Sometimes we use our sight for fun, like reading a book or playing video games!

Other times we use our sight to stay safe.
