

Let's Play!

by Grace Bilodeau

SET THEME:

I Make Responsible Decisions

Build Social and Emotional Intelligence

Use the following tips to help children think about ways they can be active:

- Encourage them to keep an open mind when trying a new activity.
- Help them understand that playing can make us tired but can make us feel good.
- Remind them that playing with other children is a great way to make friends.

Executive Editor: Kellie Cardone
Creative Director: Laurie Berger
Senior Art Director: Glenn Davis
Production: Ben Rude
Photo Director: Cynthia Carris
Senior Photo Editor: Amy McNulty

Credits: Page 6, 7: Cultura RM/Alamy; All other images from Getty Images and Shutterstock.

© Newmark Learning, LLC. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopy, recording, or any information storage or retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publisher.

Printed in Guangzhou, China.
XXXXXXXXXX

ISBN: 978-1-4788-7738-7

How to Read This Book with Children

- 1 Read aloud the title. Discuss what it means to play and be active.
- 2 Read aloud the book with children.
- 3 Talk about which activities the children would choose to play.
- 4 Ask children to describe how they feel after they play for a long time.
- 5 After reading, use the Real-World Wrap-Up prompts to discuss the photograph.
- 6 Guide children to connect the story to their own experiences being active.

Let's Play!

by Grace Bilodeau

Look! A playground.

We can climb, slide, and swing!

There are so many choices.

What do we try first?

Let's try them all!

I like to play tag!
My friends do, too.
Let's play!

To win, you must run quickly.

Whew! That was fun!

Do you like to hop?
Can you hop on one foot?
Let's try hopscotch!

Be careful.

Hopscotch takes balance.

You can do it!

