Doubles Trouble

Tillie steps up to the baseline. She tosses the tennis ball in the air and serves.

On the other side of the court, Margo swings at the ball and misses.

“Great serve, Tillie!” Coach Lynn cheers.

Tillie and Margo volley until practice is over.

“Great practice,” Coach Lynn says. “How would you like to be partners in a doubles tournament?”

“Yeah!” Margo says.

“Um, sure,” Tillie responds.

“Coach Lynn wants me to play doubles in the tournament next week,” Tillie complains at dinner that night.

“What’s wrong with doubles?” her mom asks.

“Singles is easier. I only have to worry about me and my opponent,” Tillie explains.

“Doubles will be an exciting challenge!” her mom says.
