Fun in the Sand

“Look! There is the beach!” I say.
I am excited to get in the water.

An illustration of a beach scene. In the background, a boy with curly hair, wearing a blue striped tank top and blue shorts, is walking up a set of wooden stairs, holding a long orange object. In the foreground, a girl with long dark hair in a pink dress and purple bag is walking down the stairs, pointing her finger. To her right, a young girl in an orange dress is running on the sand, holding yellow flip-flops. The sand is scattered with seashells. A large pink speech bubble contains text.

Ouch!

The sand is hot.

“Put your shoes on, Bri,” Mom says.

“All the good spots are gone!”
I say.

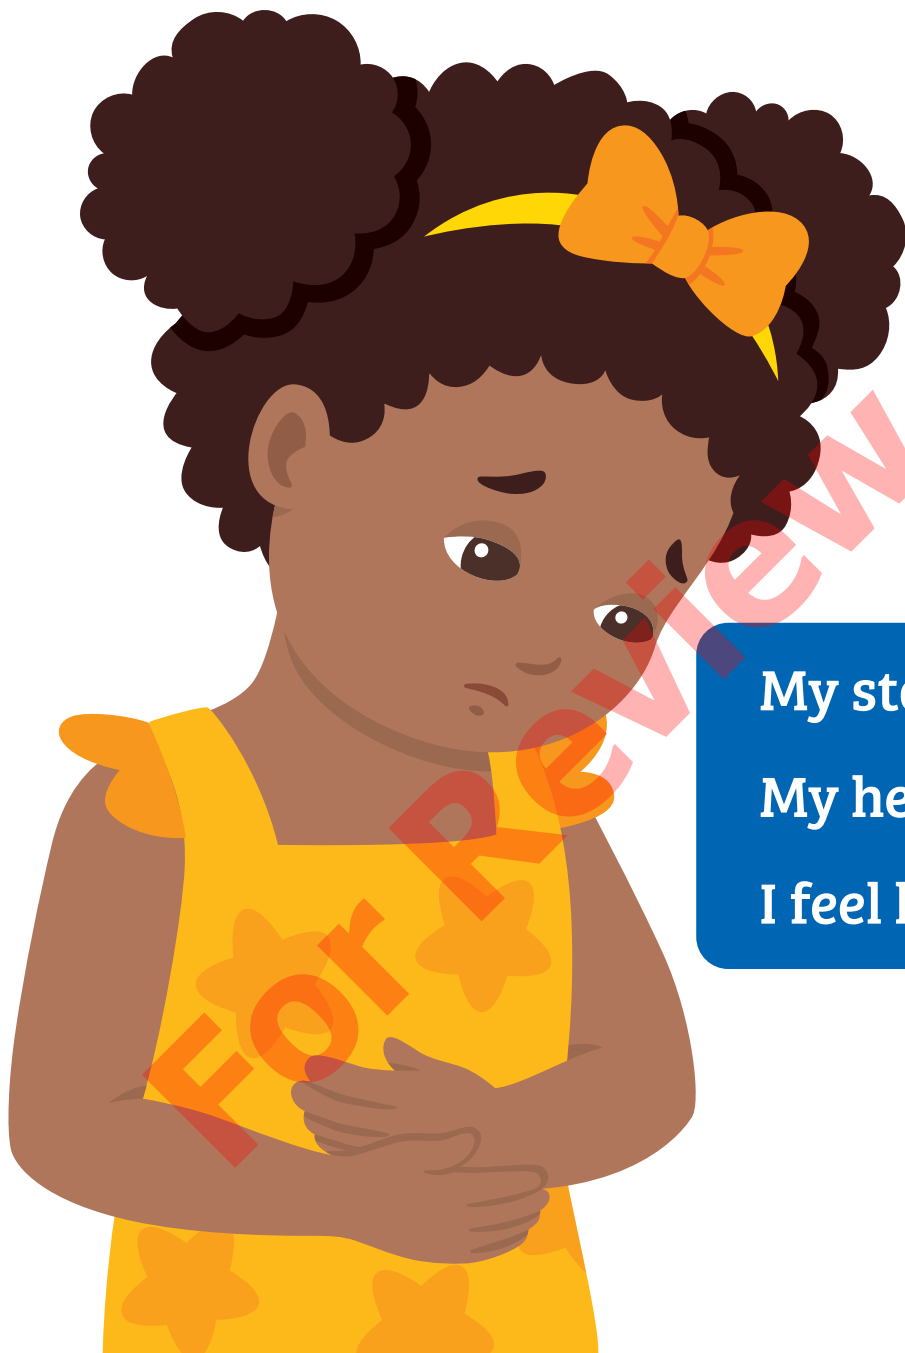

My brother Jackson and
I run to the water.

He splashes me.

The water is cold!

My stomach sinks.

My heart feels heavy.

I feel like crying.
