Adverbs of Frequency

- ◆ The present simple is often used with adverbs of frequency (always, usually, often, sometimes, seldom/rarely, never, etc.) to show how often something happens. The adverbs of frequency answer the question How often...?

e.g. How often do you go to bed early?
I always/ usually go to bed early.

100%	75%	50%	25%	10%	0%
always	usually	often	sometimes	rarely/ seldom	never

- ◆ Adverbs of frequency come before the main verb (listen, watch, etc.), but after the verb to be and auxiliary or modal verbs, such as do, can, must, etc. The adverbs rarely, seldom and never have a negative meaning and are never used with the word not.

e.g. Emily never watches horror films.
You must always behave yourself at school.
Does Roger often call you during the week?

Adverbs of frequency always go before the auxiliary verb in short answers.

e.g. Do you buy expensive clothes? No, I never do.

UNIT 1

Present Forms

Present Perfect

FORM

I/You have ('ve) left/arrived.

He/She/It has ('s) left/arrived.

Have you left/arrived? Yes, I have./No, I haven't.

You have not (haven't) left/arrived.

He/She/It has not (hasn't) left/arrived.

Use

The present perfect and the present perfect continuous connect the past and the present. That is, they describe actions which started in the past and continue up to the present or actions which were completed in the past but whose results affect the present.

- ◆ The present perfect is used to describe an action which started in the past and continues up to the present, especially with state verbs such as have, like, know, be, etc. In this case, we often use for and since.

They have been friends for twenty years. (They met each other twenty years ago and they are still friends.)

- ◆ The present perfect is also used for an action which has recently finished and whose result is visible in the present.

She has picked a lot of apples. (The apples are in the basket, so the action has finished.)

Present Perfect Continuous

FORM

I/You have ('ve) been reading.

He/She/It has ('s) been reading.

Have you been reading? Yes, I have./No, I haven't.

Has he/she been reading?

You have not (haven't) been reading.

He/She/It has not (hasn't) been reading.

- ◆ The present perfect continuous is used to put emphasis on the duration of an action which started in the past and continues up to the present, especially with time expressions such as for, since, all morning/day/week, etc.

Sarah has been picking vegetables for two hours. (She started picking vegetables two hours ago and she is still picking them now.)

- ◆ The present perfect continuous is also used for an action which started and finished in the past and lasted for some time. The result of the action is visible in the present.

He is dirty. He has been playing football. (He is no longer playing football, but the fact that his clothes are dirty is visible now.)

Note: With the verbs feel (have a particular emotion), live, work and teach we can use the present perfect or present perfect continuous with no difference in meaning.

e.g. He has felt/has been feeling unwell all morning.
