

Homes through Time

Julie Haydon

Flying Colours

Homes through Time

Julie Haydon

For Review Only

Contents

Chapter 1	People on the Move	2
Chapter 2	The First Villages	4
Chapter 3	Towns in Egypt	6
Chapter 4	Apartments in Rome	8
Chapter 5	A Viking Village	10
Chapter 6	Castles	12
Chapter 7	Life in a Yurt	14
Chapter 8	Houses near Factories	16
Chapter 9	Homes Today	18
Chapter 10	Homes in the Future	20
Chapter 11	Homes around the World	22
Glossary and Index		24

Chapter 1

People on the Move

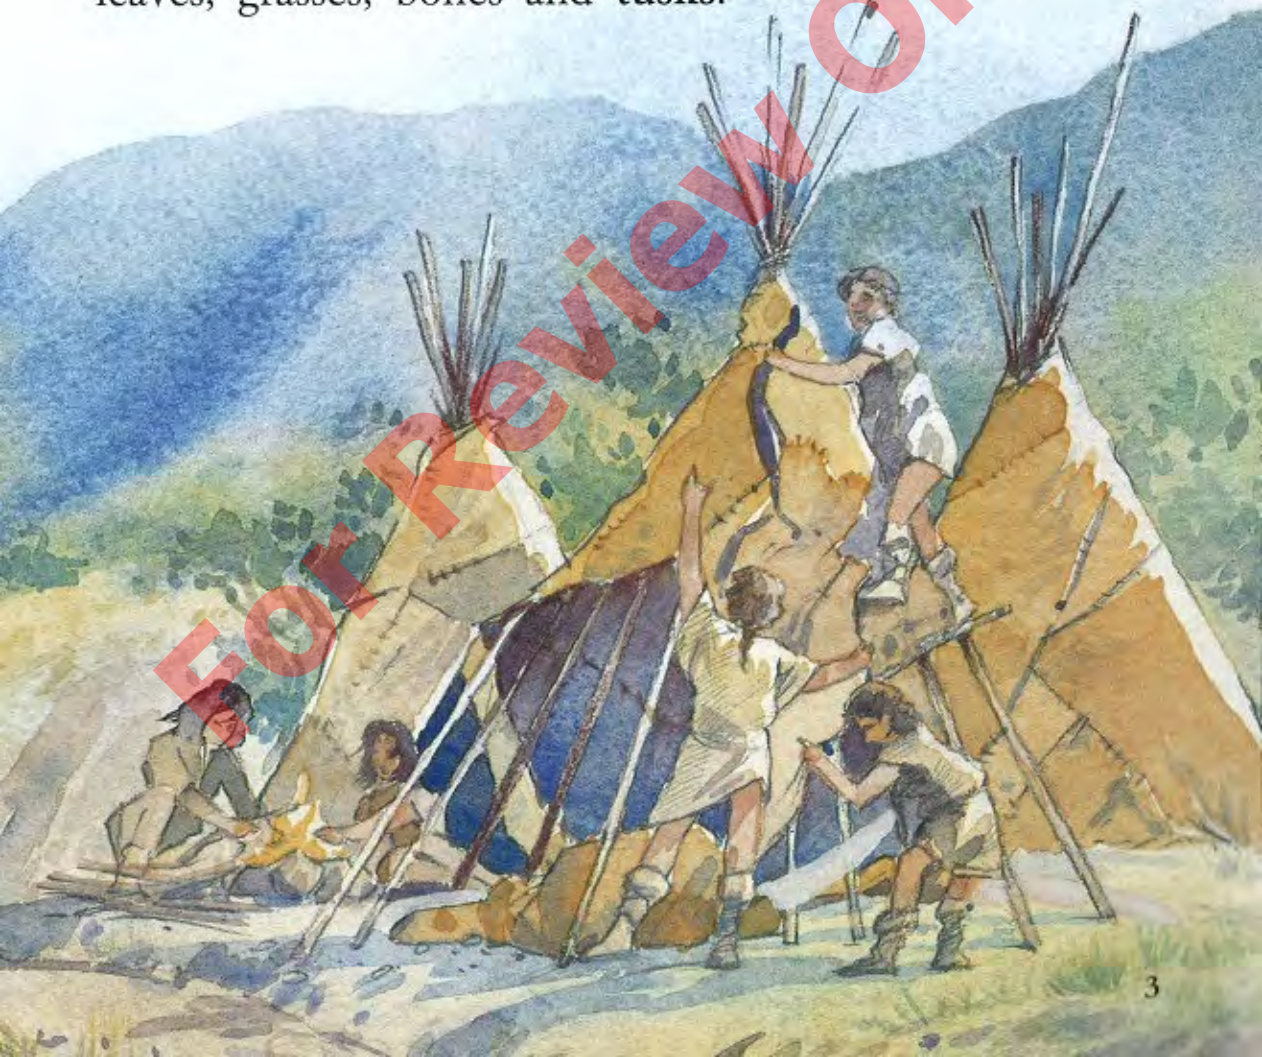

Long ago, people did not live in one place. They followed the animals they hunted. The people did not know how to grow their own food. They did not know how to keep farm animals.

For Review Only

Sometimes the people lived in caves. Sometimes they made homes out of the materials they found around them. The homes were easy to put up and take down, like tents today.

The first homes were made from animal skins, wood, leaves, grasses, bones and tusks.

For Review Only

Chapter 2

The First Villages

People learned to grow crops. They learned how to keep animals for food. Now they could live in one place all the time.

For Review Only

People built houses in groups. These groups of houses were the first villages. People needed water. Many villages were built near a river or lake.

People learned to make bricks from mud. In some places, houses were made from stone or wood.

For Review Only

Chapter 3

Towns in Egypt

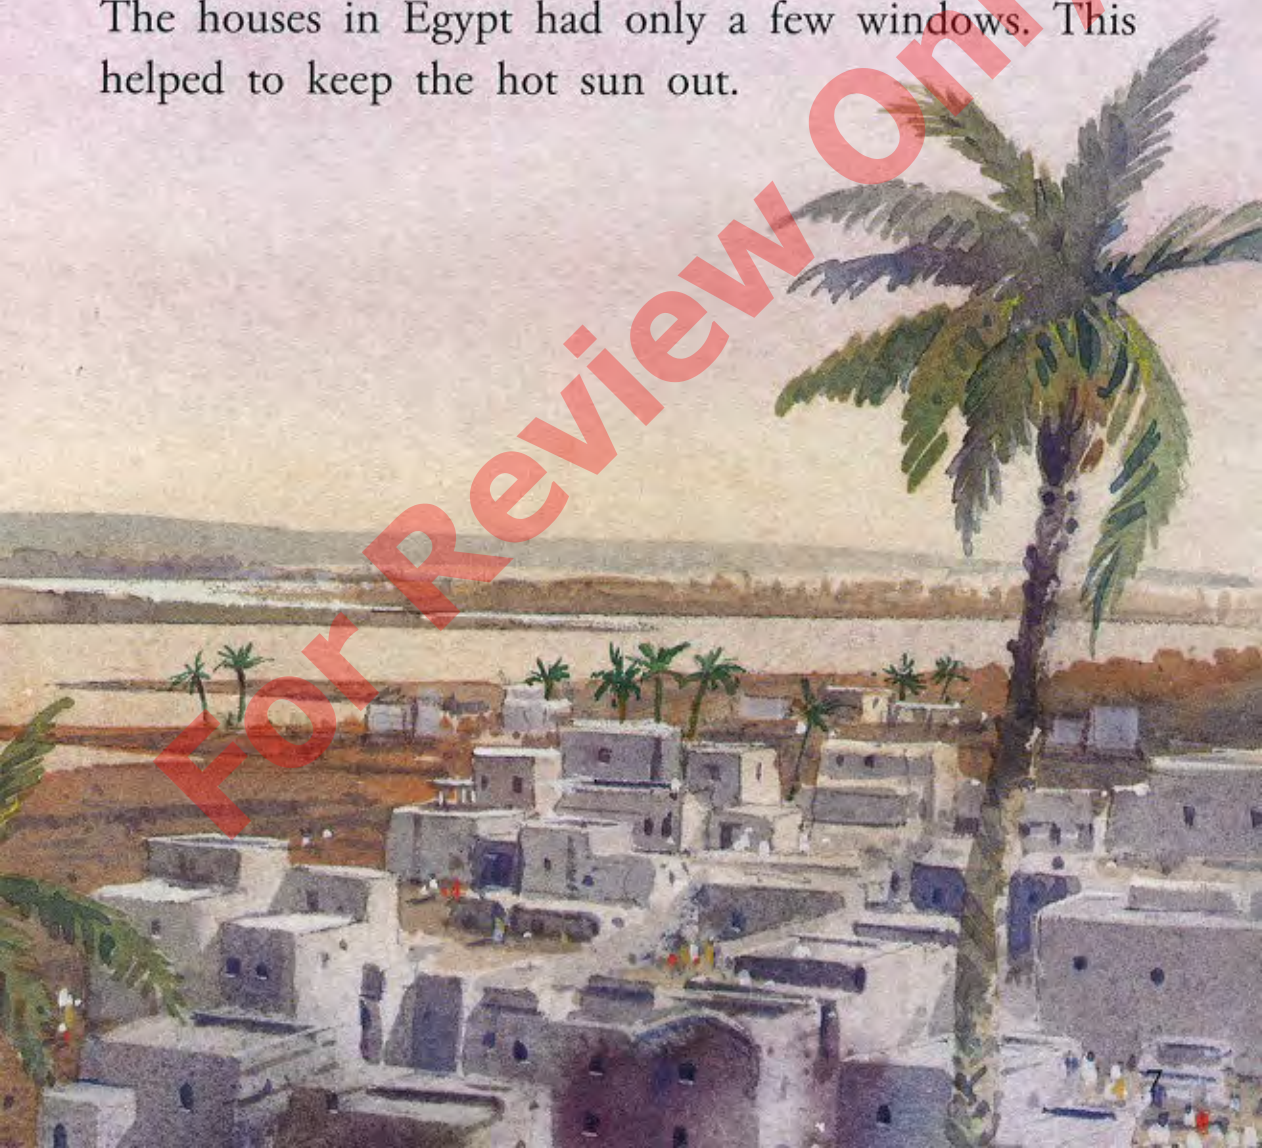

People built villages in Egypt a long time ago. The villages were along the Nile River. The people made their houses from bricks of mud and straw. The bricks were left in the sun to dry. The houses had flat roofs where people could play and rest.

For Review Only

The Nile River flooded every year. It left behind rich mud. The mud kept the soil healthy. The people grew crops in the soil. Some of the villages got larger. Soon they were towns.

The houses in Egypt had only a few windows. This helped to keep the hot sun out.

For Review Only