Captain Red Beard was asleep
in his hammock.

He was dreaming
of treasure.

When he woke up he had a strange feeling. Something was missing.

What was it? Fingers, the parrot, was on her perch. Bones, the sea dog, was in the lookout. Lizzie, the first mate, was at the helm.

Captain Red Beard scratched his head and patted his hair.

Patting his hair felt strange. He patted it again. He knew what was missing.

“My hat!” said Captain Red Beard.

“My pirate hat is missing!”
